

Missouri State
U N I V E R S I T Y

October 26, 2011

Dear Colleague:

The Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders at Missouri State University in Springfield Missouri is seeking candidates in the area of audiology for a full-time (9-month), tenure track Assistant Professor to begin Fall 2012. We would appreciate your help in letting any PhD students close to degree completion know about this position.

Our department is home to 44 doctoral students in Audiology, 62 masters' students in Speech-Language Pathology and 11 masters students in Education of the Deaf and Hard of hearing as well as an undergraduate program in communication sciences and disorders. We have 11 full time academic faculty, 7 clinical faculty and numerous staff members. Our website can be found at <http://www.missouristate.edu/csd>. Springfield Missouri is the third largest city in Missouri, located in southwest Missouri, supporting a large arts district and surrounded by many outdoor areas for hiking, canoeing, camping, boating of all kinds and many other activities.

To Apply: Apply online at <http://www.missouristate.edu/academicopenings>. Attach a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and contact information for 3-5 professional references to the electronic employment application.

For additional information contact:

Dr. Neil J. DiSarno
Communication Sciences & Disorders Department
901 South National Avenue
Springfield MO 65897
neildisarno@missouristate.edu
417-836-5368

Consideration of applications will begin December 5, 2011 and continue until filled, with selected candidates being invited to campus for interview mid to late January 2012. Please ask anyone with questions to contact me. All inquiries will be held in confidence.

Sincerely,

Neil J. DiSarno, Ph.D.

Neil J. DiSarno, Ph.D.
Department head